

The Nida School of Translation Studies

ANNOUNCES ITS 2014 SESSION

DATE: May 26 – June 6, 2014
LOCATION: San Pellegrino University Foundation Campus in Misano Adriatico (Rimini), Italy
THEME: Translation as Interpretation

This year marks the Nida School's eighth year of advancing research and providing specialized training in translation studies through a transdisciplinary approach that incorporates a focus on religious discourse. NSTS is seeking engaged scholars and qualified professionals looking to expand their skills, engage with peers, and explore the interface of practice and cutting edge theory.

NIDA PROFESSOR (week 1)

TIMOTHY BEAL

(Case Western Reserve)

Timothy Beal is the Florence Harkness Professor of Religion at Case Western Reserve University and Editor-in-Chief of The Oxford Encyclopedia of the Bible and the Arts (in progress). He has published thirteen books and many scholarly articles on the cultural history of the Bible, religion and popular culture, and relating critical theory to academic religious studies. He has written essays on Bible and culture for The New York Times, The Chronicle of Higher Education, CNN.com, and The Huffington Post, among others.

NIDA PROFESSOR (week 2)

LAWRENCE VENUTI

(Temple)

Lawrence Venuti, professor of English at Temple University, is a translation theorist and historian as well as a translator from Italian, French, and Catalan. He is the author of The Translator's Invisibility: A History of Translation (2nd edition, 2008), The Scandals of Translation: Towards an Ethics of Difference (1998), and Translation Changes Everything: Theory and Practice (2013) and the editor of The Translation Studies Reader (3rd edition, 2012). His translations include, most recently, I.U. Tarchetti's Fantastic Tales (2013), Massimo Carlotto's crime novel, The Goodbye Kiss (2006), and Ernest Farres's Edward Hopper: Poems (2009), which received the Robert Fagles Prize for Literary Translation.
